

Whose Home is This?

Lots of animals in the UK are very shy and very wary of humans. Their senses are really strong, and as soon as they hear, see, smell, feel or taste humans coming, they will disappear very quickly into the distance. But we can look for lots of signs of their activity, including footprints, feeding evidence, faeces and looking for signs of their homes.

Can you match up the animal names with their homes and picture?
The first one has been done for you.
